FEDERAL DEPOSITORY LIBRARY PROGRAM

The Federal Depository Library Program was established by Congress to provide free public access to Government publications. Nearly 1400 public, academic, State, and law libraries serve as an information link with the Federal Government by maintaining collections of Government publications. These collections, which are tailored to local needs, are open to the public. Fifty of the libraries are designated as regional depository libraries. They have the responsibility of retaining material permanently and providing inter-library loan and reference services in their regions. They also assist the other depository libraries with the disposal of obsolete material.

Copies of documents no longer available through the GPO Sales Program can usually be found in regional depository collections. A complete listing of regional depositories follows. To obtain a complete listing of all depository libraries, write to:
